CROWDS

I wish the crowd to feel itself well treated, especially since it lives and lets me live.

Goethe

Jane,
Well, it's been 1 year and about 30 hrs. later and you've changed alot. I mean, here I am in the last place in the world I expected to be. This is the Armstrong, huh?

Jane we went through a lot, with your body, Fi Fi's body, and some of your friends. We really got into some heavy, and informative rap sessions and →

As we approach the end of our senior year, it is time for us to reflect on our past four years of growing and maturing at A.I. The events I mentioned above have all been parts of our high school days, and they are just an inkling of the memories we will hold.

In our freshman year we entered the big high school. We knew we had to start being serious about our work (well, we were supposed to be serious about it!). Everyday we met new friends and started establishing our "cliques". Dr. Byrd was one of our new friends and new to A.I. We had free mods and skipped out to Johnson's. We learned to cut class, but we also realized we'd only hurt ourselves by doing so. The sophomores broke all traditions and won the Spirit Jug – could we do it as sophomores? We began to find out more about ourselves as we reacted to new friends and our new school.

By the time we were sophomores we were definitely "cool." We were underclassmen, but we could look down on the ninth graders: "Freshmen are such jerks!" Saturdays in fall were spent bundled up at football games. "Let's go A.I.!" Our tightly knit class surged to a triumphant defeat over '80, '78, and '77 for the Spirit Jug. We held a 50's dance and gave prizes to the best dancers. For a fundraiser we sold REX – that was an interesting venture. This was our second year of high school, and we had had our turns at falling in love and falling out of love. We had fewer mods but for longer periods of time. We were keeping up with the pace of high school life. Summer was around the corner, then September, when we would be JUNIORS!

Our junior year, "we put away our summer dreams to think about our Tiger teams." This year signalled a lot of change: our schedules were tightened and we had many new students by means of the voluntary transfer plan for desegregation. A.I. was a model for all other high schools. We accepted the change and the year ran smoothly. Our float motto was "Tigers ride the waves to VICTORY!" This year our efforts concentrated on the junior prom and fundraising. We set a trend for the junior class fundraiser with our sub sale. The prom was at DuPont Country Club with a setting as romantic as in "Gone With the Wind." Our senior year was ahead with many surprises in store!

First of all, the mod system we had had in the past was changed to a period system, and for the first time SENIORS were put in studyhalls. Busing was instituted and we had a lot of new members to welcome to our class. Things began to settle down – progress was being made to get seniors out of study hall and new students were beginning to feel like this was their school too (and they felt as the rest of us – that they'd been here long enough!) when the school year was interrupted by a six-week teachers' strike. Just before the strike, we had attempted another sub sale to pull our penniless class out of debt. The year picked up again and it was time for the senior ball – we were classy, of course, and had it at the Hotel duPont. The senior play was UP THE DOWN STAIRCASE.

We've made a lot of friends, had a lot of fun, and got an education at the same time. Now is the time to gather our memories, memories we'll hold forever, but it's also a time to look forward to new beginnings.
